

AMERICAN TROOPS GO TO FRENCH TRENCHES IS TODAY'S DECISION

Not Definitely Known How or When Expedition
Is Sent

SENATE GOES INTO SECRET SESSION

Espionage Bill Will Probably Come To a Vote
By Middle Of Week

(International News Service.)

Washington, May 7.—It has been definitely decided that American troops shall go to France.

The date of their sailing and all details concerning their dispatch will be withheld. Until they finally take their places on foreign soil no information will be made public regarding the makeup of the detachments. It is considered certain that the initial contingents will be made up of selected units.

Both the French and British missions have emphasized that it is not the size of the force that will count but it is the effect and knowledge that the Stars and Stripes are on the firing line that will count, the president and the general staff have been told.

Officials today continued their efforts to whip into shape legislation needed to give the administration the power to take over all shipping and all ship building appliances in the United States. The house began consideration of the administration bill to allow the president to take over all vessels in American ports belonging to any nation with which this country is at war.

It is expected that when this and other such laws are whipped into shape, the president will personally emphasize the necessity for their passage. Government work in all ship yards is being impeded because of existing contracts for ship building.

Meantime the latest figures from the operations of German submarines show that they are steadily increasing the work of destruction. It is said that four submarines of the latest type are passing our front German waters every 24 hours. If the present ratio of destruction can be maintained by Germany, something however which officials here believe is impossible, the reserve British and French shipping will be wiped out within twelve months.

Washington, May 7.—The senate unexpectedly voted to go into secret executive session immediately after convening this afternoon to consider "legislative business." No explanation of the mystery was offered.

RUSSIA IS QUIET; THE WAR GOES ON

CABINET AND OTHER FACTORS
NOW ARE WORKING IN HARMONY.

(International News Service.)

London, May 7.—The provisional Russian government is again in complete control.

The crisis precipitated by the several peace agitators has passed, leaving the council of soldiers and workmen's delegates working together with the cabinet, but the former is stronger today than before the disorders last week.

Petrograd dispatches today said that quiet had been restored in the city. General Alexieff, Russian commander-in-chief, who was recalled from the Riga front to protect Petrograd by the outbreak again predicts a German drive on the northern end of the eastern front in an effort to break through to Petrograd. The general declared that the Germans had massed great numbers of men and guns along the Dvina river and were apparently ready to open the attack any day.

MORGAN COUNTY WILL FURNISH 175 CONSCRIPTS FOR THE ARMY

Morgan county will furnish 175 conscripts for the new army, in addition to the volunteers and members of the Alabama National Guard, roughly estimated at 150 in all. This will make the county's contribution to the man-power needed to win the war about 325 men at the outset, and this number may be largely increased by subsequent drafts.

Alabama's quota of conscripted men is slightly more than 11,000, according to figures announced from Washington. The state has a census population of 2,138,093, while the population of the county is in round numbers 34,000. A little penciling will show that Morgan county's proportion

HOT FIGHT IN HOUSE ON NEW REVENUE BILL.

(International News Service.)

Washington, May 7.—With the ways and means committee ready to bring in the war revenue bill today, interest centered on the attitude to be developed on the floor of the house when the measure is thrown open to debate. There is the widest divergence of opinion in committee as to the income and excess profit taxes.

ESPIONAGE BILL VOTE IN THE SENATE THIS WEEK.

(International News Service.)

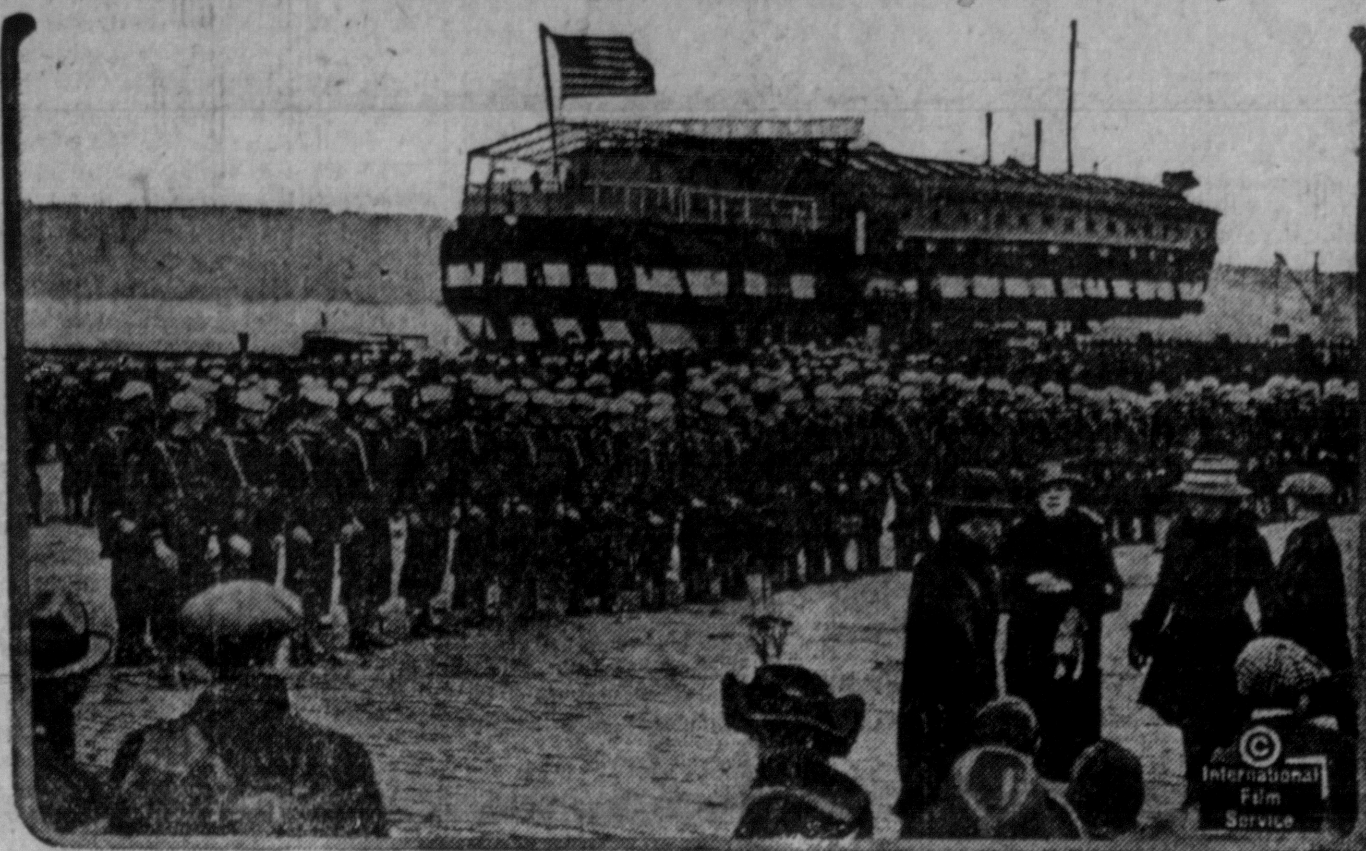

Washington, May 7.—The fight over the espionage bill which has occupied the senate's attention intermittently for nearly a month, entered into the final stage today and those in charge of the measure predicted a Wednesday.

The passage of the measure seemed to be assured but with the administration draft radically amended.

TWIN CITY MINISTERS URGE MORE EATABLES

Request Of President Wilson Causes Many Patriotic Sermons In Albany And Decatur Churches

Of the thousand ministers of North Alabama who were requested to bring to the attention of their congregations "the absolute necessity of a great awakening in the matter of food supplies during the war," as Father Sheridan phrased it, most of the ministers of Decatur and Albany responded, though owing to the shortness of the notice given no whole sermon was devoted to this subject.

Rev. J. H. Heiserman, pastor of the German Lutheran church, made one of the strongest appeals. His exact words at the close of his sermon, when he told his congregation what he considered was their duty as to food, were: "The president of the United States has requested that all pastors preach on economic themes this morning. For various reasons I have failed to comply with this request. But I would now impress upon you the seriousness which the food situation has attained. And I appeal to you Christianity and Christian training. I urge you to take your Bibles and read. There you will find appropriate instruction. Read the story of the Prodigal Son and perceive the misery and humiliation brought upon him by extravagance. Read of Jesus feeding the multitudes in the wilderness, and imitate Him in gathering up the fragments of God's giving. Read the first chapter of St. James, where the Apostle states that 'every good and perfect gift is from above, from the Father of lights.' If you have appropriated and believe this truth, you will also appreciate God's kindness and take good care of all that he has bestowed upon you."

Mr. Heiserman further said: "Not only because it is the request of our president, but because it is sinful to be wasteful and improvident, the words of our president should be heeded."

Mays Raps Liquor.
Rev. Livingston T. Mays of the Central Baptist church, called attention to what a big food saving could be effected by the president if, at the stroke of the pen, he would forbid the use of any grain for alcoholic beverages.

Said Dr. Mays: "Let the South do its own thinking and let the Wall street lords save their advice for their own neighbors. The brewers and distillers of the United States use six hundred million bushels of grain, wheat, corn, rye, barley, etc., annually. One stroke of the president's hand or a line from the secretary of war can say: 'Let the brewers and distillers stop making cursed stuff which is ruining our nation during this war,' and enough bread corn and wheat will be saved to give sixty 24-pound sacks of flour to each family of five in the entire nation, and add to it thirty bushels of meal. This would feed the nation."

"Why have I, pastor of Central Baptist church, gotten during the last week from the governor of Alabama, from Washington, Wall street, from the Board of Trade of Montgomery and of Atlanta, and from the telephone company requests to preach a sermon urging the people of the South to plant corn and wheat rather than cotton? Why do not these people display their patriotism? Let these same forces demand that breweries and distilleries close during the period of the war and save enough grain to feed the nation. The government of France loves France enough to stop the manufacture of alcoholic drinks so the people can be fed, the Kaiser loves Germany enough to stop it in his country, the deposed Czar of Russia stopped it in Russia, England and the United States are the only countries engaged in war who let the tremendous and criminal waste continue. Is it because the whisky trust has England and our country by the throat? Let the advisers of the Southern pulpits know that we preachers are not such simpletons as they think. We love our country and are not playing politics. We stand for the starving poor man. We want the whisky trust to starve while the people are fed. Let all petition the president to issue an order closing every saloon during the war, and flour will fall to half its present price and corn will fall to one dollar a bushel."

Rev. H. M. Stevenson, of the First Methodist church of Decatur, on last Sunday, April 29, preached on the importance of diversification of crops and food production, but did not touch on food conservation yesterday.

R. E. Sanders, who is conducting the lay readings and services at the St. John's Episcopal church in the absence of a rector, stated that on next Sunday he expected to impress the president's request on the St. John's congregation.

To Have Canning Club.
Rev. L. F. Goodwin, pastor of the West Side Presbyterian church, read President Wilson's written request Sunday morning to his congregation. This pastor hopes to establish a canning club soon.

At both his masses, Rev. J. M. Sheridan, of St. Ann's Catholic church, strongly insisted on compliance with the president's request. He said among other things: "The president's request that ministers of all denominations should impress the need of food raising, should guarantee compliance therewith. It is absolutely necessary that you raise such food crops as it is possible for you to raise, as before another spring all that you can produce in the way of food will be sorely needed."

Dr. Jesse A. Cook, of the First Baptist church of Decatur, said that the president's desire that the churches take up the matter of food production at this time was eminently fitting, as the mission of the church is first of all to conserve life. He expressed his conviction that God was in this war and was on the side of humanity as

CENTRALIZED CONTROL URGED

MANY DEPARTMENT WITHOUT ADVISES AS TO NEW WEAPON
THAT WILL REMOVE U-BOAT MENACE.

(International News Service.)
Washington, May 7.—Serious agitation for centralized control of the national war preparations is apparent here.

With the German-American war entering its thirty-first day, only one branch of the government shows real results—the finance. The army is absolutely tied up, at the mercy of congress, which still is splitting hairs on the conscription bill. The navy has made progress but only along certain lines. In the assembling of a huge fleet of U-boat destroyers necessary to protect the coast it is proceeding most leisurely.

Meanwhile the efficiency of the German submarine is increasing daily. This means, army and navy experts say, that not only will the work of getting supplies, especially food and fuel, to the entente be more difficult, but the program of transporting an American army to France will prove a far greater problem than was anticipated when the success of Canada in getting her forces into the battlefield was considered.

The U-Boat Destroyer.
The navy department still is without advice from the naval consulting board bearing out the claims of Chairman Saunders that a solution of the submarine menace has been found. Officials say that while progress had been made, it was too early to rejoice.

It is expected that a decision to send an expedition to France will be reached at the general conference planned for the present week by the visiting British army experts and the general staff. No details of this expedition will be made public.

Lieutenant Kelley of Company B, assisted by other officers, are the drill instructors, and the "rookies" are beginning to show signs of improvement.

ALLIES DRIVE TO DECISIVE BATTLE ON WEST FRONT

FRESH ADVANCES ARE REPORTED

During Past Twenty-Four Hours French Make Important Gains

(International News Service.)

Paris, May 7.—Twenty-nine thousand German soldiers have been captured by Gen. Neville's armies since the French opened their drive on April 16. Official announcement to this effect was made today.

(International News Service.)

London, May 7.—As the gigantic conflict continues on the western front, it becomes more evident that the allies are determined to make it one of the few decisive battles of the war and the deciding one if possible. There is ever increasing pressure against the northern and southern ends of the Hindenburg line, while there is no let-up in the steady thrusts against the St. Quentin sector.

During the past 24 hours the French have made some of the most important gains since they opened their drive April 16.

BRITISH DRIVE DEEPER INTO HINDENBURG LINE.

London, May 7.—The thrust into the Hindenburg line near Bullecourt was driven still deeper by British assaults last night.

The war office announced today that the British renewed their attacks on that sector following the repulse of strong German counter attacks and gained more ground after bitter fighting. A number of prisoners were captured.

Madrie Remanded To Jail Without Bond On Hearing

SLAYER OF ROBERT T. ODOM IS GIVEN PRELIMINARY TRIAL
SATURDAY AT MOULTON.

Dick Madrie, of Hillsboro, was remanded to jail without bond for the killing of Robert T. Odom, of Hillsboro, at a preliminary hearing Saturday at Moulton before Probate Judge J. C. Kumpe of Lawrence county.

The hearing was attended by a large number of persons from the Hillsboro section of Lawrence county, the killing having aroused deep interest. The preliminary trial lasted for several hours because of the large number of witnesses and the summing up speeches of Attorney W. W. Callahan for the defense and Solicitor D. C. Almon for the state.

The defense adduced evidence tending to show that Madrie fired in self defense, a large knife said to be Odom's being exhibited in court. The state attempted to show that the murder was a brutal affair growing out of an argument over work done for Madrie by Odom. One particular sensational piece of evidence presented by the state quoted Madrie as refusing to allow Odom's wife to come near the body when Odom was breathing his last, menacing her with his pistol, as her husband was struggling in death.

Twin City Electrical Men Say Edison Has Solution

Electrical men of the Twin Cities declare that Thos. A. Edison, the "wizard of Menlo Park," has the solution of the U-boat menace if any man in America has it.

The electricians were deeply interested in the announcement of the naval consulting board published in the Daily's issue of Saturday, many of them declaring that they had confidently expected just such a denouncement.

"I have been in the electrical business for the past seventeen years," said Thos. L. Beauchamp of the Alabama Power Company. "During that time Mr. Edison has made the majority of his wonderful inventions for the advancement of the electrical science. I have never seen Edison announce an invention that was not a complete success in every way. It

Amsterdam, May 7.—A concerted effort to shake the hold of the Kaiser upon the army and navy as the first step to greater political reforms in Germany is under way.

One establishes ministerial responsibility for the navy instead of allowing the supreme power to remain in the Kaiser's hands. Another practically puts the army under the Reichstag.

THE NEW CURE FOR THE U-BOAT MENACE.

The most startling news that has been flashed over the wires since the war began, was that sent out from New York Saturday by the Naval Consulting Board, an organization of eminent inventors and scientists that is devoting its time and talent to perfecting means for licking the Kaiser and any other foe of this great republic. The board announced that it had submitted "a concrete plan to the navy department designed to handle the hostile submarine craft." The statement was far from illuminating. It was more potent in suggestion as to future possibilities than as to detail of the methods to be employed.

Knowing the personnel of the Consulting Board and having at hand information that more than 500 inventions designed to check the U-boats in their mad campaign of piracy had been considered and studied, the American people are ready to accept the optimistic assurance that relief is in sight, and that the war is to be won within a comparatively short time. An American invented the submarine, and why should not an American invent the machine that will render it harmless? It was the great inventive genius of the American people that Germany feared when it first modified its submarine campaign, more than it ever did the American millions or the American man-power, for these were too remotely removed to be a serious danger. The announcement from the Naval Consulting Board will produce a chill in Berlin.

At this time—now that the Consulting Board has spoken—the only real danger is that the navy department may decline to accept the suggestions offered. It is a fact that the rifle now used by the British in France was rejected by the American army. It is also true that other implements of war that today are playing an important part in deciding the fate of nations were first rejected by our own official experts. The submarine itself should have remained an American secret.

To the credit of the present administration, the Naval Consulting Board is its official child. Secretary Daniels departed from the paths of precedent and called into the service of the navy men who knew something other than the rules of fighting. He was big enough and broad enough to realize that a general staff that was graduated from Annapolis was not above receiving suggestions merely because of this fact. His trusted lieutenants of science will make no recommendation that will not be given a practical test.

If Edison and his co-workers can't stop the submarines, then it will be high time for our diplomats to stop the war.

THE BATSON VERDICT SHOWS UP THE LAW.

"What will the verdict be in the Batson case?" a representative of the Daily asked a local attorney just a few minutes after the news had come over the wire that the supreme court had announced its finding in the impeachment proceedings against the sheriff of Jefferson county. Only the Daily then knew locally what the ruling was.

"My opinion is that the verdict will be 'not guilty,'" was the answer. "Negligence in an officer is not an impeachable offense—only criminal negligence is," the attorney explained. He was right. The verdict of the supreme court was the verdict of men versed in the law, and on this point most of the lawyers were agreed.

Thus the public was given a closer insight into the workings of the law that doth hedge an official. It is taught by a most glaring object lesson that a sheriff can do no negligence, unless criminal intent is shown. For the sheriff of Jefferson county to have released Overton and five other desperate and hardened criminals upon the community for a consideration would have been a most heinous crime. For him to release them by the more circuitous route of pure carelessness, negligence, was legally and technically meritorious. It may be true that the sheriff profited by the reduced expense that resulted from employing prisoners as "trusties" and flunkys about the jail. This was financial sagacity, however, and not in itself a criminal act.

What the state of Alabama seems to need is some old-fashioned law based upon common sense. It needs law that looks to results and that does not confine itself altogether to hairsplitting and legal quibbling. Whether it is possible to attain this is another question.

TAXING COTTON.

The sub-committee charged with the task of providing revenue to meet the $2,000,000,000 indebtedness contracted through the medium of certificates as part of the program of financing the war, which it is proposed to pay off within a year, has been reduced to the extremity of urging a tax of $2.50 per bale on cotton. Naturally enough the southern representatives in congress are up in arms, for they see in this move a covert attempt to again force the South to pay the price of sectionalism, and that half a century after the civil war has been fought. In fact, the argument is made that this is the most effective way to make the South bear a full share of the burden of war, as it cannot be reached through such channels as the income tax nor through the internal revenue tax on liquors.

The South is no shirker. It does not object to paying its way. It does, however, object very strenuously to being made the butt of sectional feeling and sectional animosity. Tax wheat and corn and rye and oats and other products of the farm along with the fleecy staple and the South will have not a word to say. It will offer a vigorous protest, though, to taxing its monopoly and letting the other fruits of the soil go unscathed. To clothe the army of America and the armies of the world, to clothe belligerent and non-belligerent alike, the cotton fields of the South are the main dependence. Clothing is as essential as food, for armies fight on their backs as well as on their stomachs. Food is too scarce and too precious to attempt to kindle the fires that warm mankind altogether from within. Warm garments help to conserve the food supply, and in a broad sense cotton is raiment and shelter and food.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH AND EVERY OTHER DAY

BY OBSERVER.

Are you making a life or merely a living? If the latter, then only those life laws that teach you how to grow or to get things to eat will interest you. The phoenician saw deeper. He said he was working to pay for the high cost of living, but that his real business was to make a person of himself—to make a life. Of course the cobbler did not mean that he could make himself. For the person who even thinks he is self-made is a failure. What he meant was that he wanted to be in the way of becoming a person. To be a person is the prime quest. It is greater than even getting into heaven, for it includes the latter. Some seem to think that being a "personage" is the thing. But the Bible is plainly against this idea, for it says that God has no respect as to personages.

Some say sufficient stomach timber is the basis on which to build. This is the socialist's long suit. And according to last evening's papers, Petrograd is experiencing a "fing" to establish a state built mostly on something to eat. Does not the Bible open up the way where it says: "The Kingdom of God is within you." This scripture predicates that all of one's faculties must be developed in order to make a person out of oneself. But what are faculties? Are they plenty to eat, a good job, peace, standing in, self-preservation and so forth? Certainly not.

Our faculties are those powers that make it possible for us to apprehend God. Courage, loyalty, honesty, faithfulness to contract, fair play, the willingness to suffer, to resist, and if need be to die, are some of the manifestations of the true soul faculties. These last qualifications will possess the sons of men before God's great work on this earth is ended. And the only way to hasten the Kingdom is to promote in every way the development and the manifestations of such qualities not only in the lives of others, but in our own lives.

EARLY VARIETIES OF COWPEAS

By J. F. Dugger, Director Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
Unfortunately, cowpeas for planting are scarce and high priced. Yet even more than the full acreage of this legume is needed this year, largely for human food.

For this year, with high priced meat and meal, we need a large increase in the supply of human food grown on the farm. We need these substitutes at the earliest practicable date.

Early cowpeas is one of the crops that should be grown for this purpose. Moreover, early varieties have special advantages in a year when seed are expensive. This is because two crops of early cowpeas can be grown in a single season in the central and southern parts of the Gulf States. That is, a bushel of some early variety planted in drills on 2 acres or more late in April should ripen a part of its crop by the middle of July, at which time, with fair yields, the mature half of the crop should amount to about 14 bushels. This in turn would be sufficient to plant about 30 additional acres in drills for seed production, or half that amount broadcast for hay.

The Experiment Station at Auburn has repeatedly picked mature New Era cowpeas about the middle of July, has sunned them for about a week, and then planted on other land in time to obtain mature peas before a late fall frost, or a hay crop before an early frost.

Another early variety is the California Blackeye, also called Six-weeks and Ramshorn, which is less productive than New Era, but which, being white, sells at a higher price for table use.

Let us not forget that green cowpeas constitute one of the most nutritious vegetables, and at less expense for seed than either English peas or snap beans.

Hand-Made Chains.

In this day of machine manufacture, it will perhaps surprise some to learn that the making of big chains is largely, if not entirely, confined to methods dependent on hand labor. There are probably no big chains being made in the United States by the use of machinery. There are various appliances employed, but these are hand operated or personally controlled. This situation appears to be due to two things: First, as the proverbial expression has it, "a chain is no stronger than the weakest of its links." A hand-made chain is naturally made link by link. If the workmen are not only careful, but conscientious as to details, there is considerable opportunity for attention equivalent to continuous inspection. The making of big chains is largely an old-time blacksmith's job.

Melody.

A few days ago we went to a local woman's clubhouse and listened to the music of a master violinist. And now we know how Jacob's ladder, which reached from earth to heaven, was constructed. Each rung of that ladder was a note that floated from the harp of an angel who stood at the door of Paradise, smiling down on Jacob. The angels on the ladder were the old patriarch's thoughts ascending on the wings of melody.—Los Angeles Times.

He Knew Him.

"You don't seem to have any faith in that man's word," said one lawyer to another.
"No, I do not," was the reply.
"Why?"
"Because I was his attorney in a horse-trading case once."

A baby carriage is as good as its wheels—have you ever paused to consider this FACT?

A baby carriage runs lightly if the wheels spin lightly—it is as durable as its wheels.

Because the makers of the Fulton realize these facts the wheels of the Ministers Compliment Secretary S. A. Randle

Resolutions Are Adopted on Departure of Y. M. C. A. Official.

Resolutions bidding Godspeed to S. A. Randle, retiring secretary of the local Young Men's Christian association, were adopted at the regular meeting of the Ministerial Union of the Twin Cities this morning.

The resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, are as follows:

"Whereas, our friend and brother, Mr. S. A. Randle, who for the past two years has served as secretary of the local R. Y. M. C. A., and at the same time as secretary of our Ministerial Union, has severed his connection with the Association and is soon to leave to make his home in another city; therefore be it

"Resolved by the Ministers' Union of Albany, Decatur and vicinity:

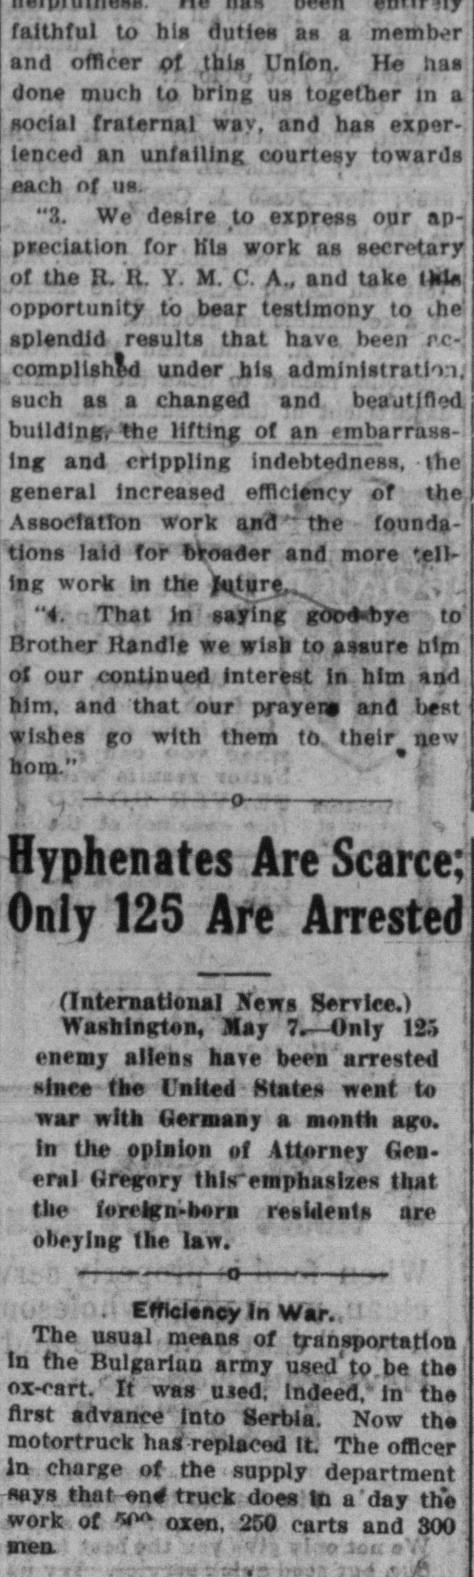

"1. That we express our sorrow of the step that Brother Randle feels he has been conscientiously led to take, and that we say good-bye with real regret.

"2. That in recording the deep pleasure that our association with him has brought us, we desire to express our gratitude for the asset he has been to us in the way of practical helpfulness. He has been entirely faithful to his duties as a member and officer of this Union. He has done much to bring us together in a social fraternal way, and has experienced an unflinching courtesy towards each of us.

"3. We desire to express our appreciation for his work as secretary of the R. Y. M. C. A., and take this opportunity to bear testimony to the splendid results that have been accomplished under his administration, such as a changed and beautified building, the lifting of an embarrassing and crippling indebtedness, the general increased efficiency of the Association work and the foundations laid for broader and more telling work in the future.

"4. That in saying good-bye to Brother Randle we wish to assure him of our continued interest in him and him, and that our prayers and best wishes go with them to their new home."

Noted Suffragist To Speak Here Tonight

MISS LOLA C. TRAX.

Miss Lola C. Trax, of the National American Woman Suffrage association, will speak in Decatur at the city hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Miss Trax is making a tour of Alabama under the auspices of the Alabama Equal Suffrage association, and has held many meetings in the northern part of the state.

Miss Trax is a native of Baltimore and has spent all her life south of the Mason and Dixon line. She has traveled extensively throughout the country, much of her work being done in southern territory—West Virginia, Missouri, Tennessee, Maryland, also New Jersey, New York and Kansas have been visited by this young speaker.

Miss Trax has been the originator of many unique suffrage campaigns, among them "The March of the Army of the Alleganians," and "The Pilgrimage to the Home of Margaret Brent." She tells many charming stories of her experiences and handles her subject with ease.

The meeting is open to the public.

"THE SOCIAL LEPER"

Cast including ARTHUR ASHLEY and EVELYN GREELEY
Story by Florence C. Bolles. Directed by Harley Knoles

Rushing along to a startling climax, this sensational story grips with the first flash of the first reel and holds it without letting go until the last reel ends and the lights flash up. The acting in this attraction is superb. All the way through the feature is marked by exceptional class. See it and be supremely entertained.

Conscription Bill Still In Conference

(International News Service.)
Washington, May 7.—The conscription bill was still tied up in conference today, although a week had elapsed since its passage.

Consideration of the bill by the conferees thus far has been confined to minor points of difference which have been smoothed out without controversy. The chief bone of contention—the age limit for conscription—was taken up today and after this is adjusted the conferees will turn their attention to Senator Harding's amendment authorizing Col. Roosevelt to raise a division for service in France.

Senator Chamberlain, head of the senate conferees, hoped to reach a complete agreement on the bill by the middle of the week.

Three Local Men Honored By T. P. A.

Three local men were honored at the state convention of the T. P. A. at Selma Saturday. J. H. Calvin was elected member of the board of directors. E. L. Raney was named as delegate to the national convention and Dave Martin as alternate.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the convention in Tuscaloosa.

Paid $24,500 for a Set of Spoons.

Apostle spoons, of which many examples are changing hands in the auction rooms just now, were made in sets of 12 together, with a master spoon, says the London Chronicle. In the case of those belonging to Corpus Christi college, Cambridge, this thirteenth spoon is surmounted with the figure of St. Paul. Complete and original sets can be counted on the fingers of one hand, and for the earliest of them—dating from Henry VIII's reign—Pierpont Morgan had to pay $4,000. A single Charles I example, which sold in London for £34, was found in the thatched roof of a Devonshire barn.

Twin City Ministers Urge More Eatables

against falsely assumed authority, as he has always been in the past.

Pastors Grow Food.

Rev. L. L. Hearn, pastor of the South Side Baptist church, exhorted his people to face the solid fact that we are up against a most serious condition. This pastor and his boys (as is also the case with Dr. L. T. Mays and his boys) are tending a small sized farm on the edge of town. Said Rev. Hearn: "We need to raise corn, potatoes and hogs, and that is what we are doing."

Rev. J. H. Hill, of the First Christian church, so recently of the neighboring farming town of Hartselle, strongly urged greater activities both in the making and conserving of food supplies.

Pastor Was Away.

Rev. W. B. Strong, of Willoughby Presbyterian church, had to be away yesterday to dedicate a church in Limestone county, but left strict orders with the lay leader, J. D. McCluskey, who was to conduct his church services, that the president's request should receive due attention.

Rev. W. N. Sholl, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Decatur, whose patriotism is known far and wide, prayed earnestly at his morning service that the government be given practical aid as well as sentimental support at this time, "when," as the preacher said, "it is seeking to strike a blow for the everlasting good of humanity."

Father of Socialism.

Karl Marx, the German Jew who fathered the modern socialist school, died 34 years ago, March 14, 1883. He was born in May of 1818.

Marx had many great associates and successors in carrying on the socialist propaganda, including Friedrich Engels, Ferdinand Bebel and Wilhelm Liebknecht, the latter the father of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the latter day leader of the German social democracy, who is now serving a term in prison on conviction of high treason, due to his opposition to the war. It is Marx, however, who is honored as the founder and father of the movement. It was undoubtedly the ablest of the pioneers who endured imprisonment in Prussian prisons for "the cause, Marx's work, 'Capital,' is the so-called 'Bible of Socialism,' and the bitter critics of the Marxian creed admit that it is a monumental work.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN ALL EUROPE

BUMPER AMERICAN CROPS HELD BACK BY SUBMARINE ACTIVITY.

(International News Service.)
London, May 7.—The food shortage throughout Europe is reaching the stage of actual famine in some quarters.

The official statement today from Washington predicted bumper crops in the United States, but this optimistic news will mean little to Europe unless the submarine menace is wiped out.

The food situation in Holland, already acute, will be made worse by the tie-up of the entire Dutch shipping fleet owing to the coal shortage and the attacks upon the fishing boats by submarines.

Food riots are reported from Stockholm, Gothenburg and other Swedish cities. In England the government has under consideration a scheme for putting the people on rations. In Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey such a scarcity of food as prevails now was never known before. In Italy the rations of the soldiers have been cut on account of the scarcity of provisions, chiefly flour.

Life in Sicily Odd Mixture.

The cities of Sicily deserve to be seen and described, each for itself. Palermo with its beautiful harbor Taormina with its ruins and fountains little Giardini, each of them is shrouded in history, radiant with the soft beauty of ripe age. But the country of Sicily is a thing apart from these. Here in the home of one of the oldest civilizations there flourishes a day a primitive life, that is a mixture of old culture and a rudeness and sluttishness still older. Sicily seems at once to touch the luxurious days of Rome, her height and the simplicity of time of Remus and Remus.

Anarchy Rules Now In Cuban Province

Alarming News Brought to New York by Refugees.

(International News Service.)
New York, May 7.—Anarchy prevails in the province of Oriente, Cuba, according to British refugees who have arrived here.

They declared today that the Cuban government is withholding the truth concerning the uprising which they assert has reached a stage of rapine and destruction scarcely equalled in the annals of the island. They declare that a reign of terror and bloodshed will start May 20 unless the American government intervenes.

Airship Drops Four Bombs On London

(International News Service.)
London, May 7.—An air raid was made by a German aviator over London early today. Four bombs were dropped on the city. It was officially announced by the press bureau. One man was killed and one woman injured. All of the bombs were dropped in the northeastern part of the city.

More Money Handed To John Bull All'y

(International News Service.)
Washington, May 7.—Another $25,000,000 was advanced Great Britain today by the treasury department and it was learned that before the end of the month $50,000,000 more will be handed over.

Socialist Move To End War, Failure

(International News Service.)

Stockholm, May 7.—Dissentions among socialists gathered here in conference have lessened the possibility that an effective peace conference can be brought about by them. Disputes over the war aims of the various nations and the possibility of a separate Russian peace are frequent.

British Expert Says Let Railroads Alone

(International News Service.)
Washington, May 7.—The United States was advised today against taking over American railroads for the period of the war by W. M. Acworth, England's leading railway expert. He appeared this afternoon before the joint committee on interstate commerce.
